PRESENTED BY THE

STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

OF THE

BAPTIST UNIVERSITY FOR WOMEN

RALEIGH, N. C.

Meredith College Library
Raleigh, N. C.

Greeting

In behalf of the students of the Baptist University, we extend to you as a student a hearty welcome.

Join us in our efforts, and enter at once into College activities.

Thus may we, while working together, find truer friends and experience a broader and more vivid conception of real life.

We hope this little book, as a token of our interest in you, may be a friendly guide and help throughout the year.

To New Students and Old

Feel free to ask questions. There are many things you will need to learn.

Keep sweet, and do the best you can.

Don't be discouraged.

Be jolly. The home-sick germ will die in an atmosphere of cheerfulness.

Fix up your room. Make it as home-like as you can and keep it so.

Meet all your engagements and obligations promptly.

Prepare well your first recitations.

Fill in your individual study schedule in this book. Follow it.

Remember to write the folks at home.

Give careful attention to all announcements.

Remember you are living in a community, and respect the rights of others.

Read carefully the dormitory regulations in this book. Obey them and they will keep you out of trouble.

If you have not enough to do to keep you busy, consult the President or the lady Principal. Satan still hath mischief for idle hand and brain.

Be friendly with everyone. The self-centered one has only a small circumference. Don't criticise. "Cast first the beam out of thine own eye."

Look for the gold in every heart. It is there.
And remember, "All is not gold that glitters."

Join the Y. W. C. A. and a Bible class.

Put everything to the test of good sense and reason. Join the society that will stand this test.

Attend the evening prayer-meetings. They will do you good.

Take plenty of good healthful exercise. It will give brightness to your eyes and elasticity to your step. You will be an optimist.

Keep this book in a convenient place. You will need it all the year. It may be called for when you will not have time to hunt for it. A reckoning day is surely coming. Be ready for it.

Study carefully the Constitution and By-Laws of the Student's Association. Prepare to become a helpful member.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

NOT PRINTED IN THE CATALOGUE

1. Students who miss more than one-tenth the recitations during a school month in a subject will be required to take an examination on the month's work in order to make up the time missed. The only exception to this rule is that when students are representing the College or college organizations as delegates they will not be required to make up the class work. Students will be allowed, for sufficient reasons, to cut a three-hour subject once a month without obtaining special permission, but may not cut a one or two-hour college course, or an academy course. Those cutting without permission will receive zeros on the recitations missed.

2. Students will receive zeros for cutting the last recitation in subjects before a holiday, the first after a holiday.

3. Students may not miss class work or private lessons, or change them from one day to another, to make visits. See regulation 4, p. 10 of the Hand-book.

4. A student may not drop a subject or change her course without permission from her Dean.

5. Students are required to take examinations in all subjects pursued during a semester.

No one will be excused from any college on account of illness unless she is the patient of the physician or nurse.

MUSIC PRACTICE.

Under all circumstances proctors will mark student absent if she does not practice during the time assigned her.

Under no circumstances do proctors excuse students; therefore do not make such requests to them. Make these requests to the Lady Principal.

Under all ordinary conditions students will practice at their regular times. If any one wishes to substitute some other hour, the permission of the Principal must be obtained before the change is made; otherwise, the absence will not be excused.

Never stop for a social visit with the proctors; you disturb their study hour.

Close windows and pianos and turn off lights before leaving the practice rooms.

Every absence or tardiness should be reported to the Lady Principal at once. Unless reported, after three days such delinquency will go on the college record as unexcused.

Three unexcused absences from practice in any quarter causes loss of privileges for one month for those practicing from one to two hours a day.

Four unexcused absences from practice during any quarter causes loss of privileges for one month for those practicing three or more tardies a day.

In all cases two tardies count as one absence. Leaving practice rooms without permission for visiting or other purposes will count as a tardy.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association is an organization to which every resident Meredith College student belongs. New students have as important a part in it as former ones, we are counting on them to join with the seniors in giving us their hearty support.

The honor system adopted by the Association gives each girl greater responsibility and, on the other hand, greater freedom than she could otherwise have. The regulations contained in the handbook were made by the students themselves and approved by the faculty. It is the duty, therefore, of each individual girl not only to obey these regulations herself, but also to call them to the attention of fellow-students and, if necessary, of members of the Student Executive Committee any disregard of these regulations on the part of others. Student government will be a failure unless each one does her part. We trust that all the members will feel their individual responsibility and will co-operate in every possible way.

HAND-BOOK

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

NOT PRINTED IN THE CATALOGUE

Students who are absent in any month at one recitation in a one-hour course, or at two recitations, in a two, three, or four hour course will be required to take an examination on the month's work in order to make up the time missed. They will also be required to take such an examination if they miss consecutively more than the above named number of recitations in any course, whether the recitations come in the same or in different months. The only exception to the above rule is that students who are representing the college or college organizations as delegates, they will not be required to take the examinations for the time missed unless they increase the number of days missed by visits at home or elsewhere.

All cuts and the reasons therefor must be promptly reported to the Dean. One and two hour courses may not be cut unless the permission of the Dean has been obtained.

Delinquent examinations must be taken the first time they are due unless permission to put them off is obtained from the Dean; otherwise, zeros will be given for the time missed.

Students will receive zeros for cutting the first recitation in subjects before a holiday, and the first after a holiday.

Students may not miss class work or private lessons, or change them from one day to another, to make visits. See privilege 5 of the student handbook.

6. A student may not drop a subject or change her course without permission from the Dean.

7. Students are required to take examinations in all subjects pursued during a semester.

8. No one will be excused from any college duty on account of illness unless she is the patient of the physician or nurse.

9. Students may not take part in plays or other entertainments without the permission of the Dean. Ordinarily permission will not be given to those who are not making grade who have more than sixteen hours of work a week.

REGULATIONS FOR TUTORING

Students may tutor only with tutors who have been approved by the Dean and the head of the department.

The number of hours which a tutor may tutor will be determined by the Dean. (Ordinarily, three hours of tutoring will count as one academic hour.)

Absences from tutoring lessons and unpreparedness will be reported and counted as if from regular class.

The price for tutoring lessons will be, under ordinary circumstances, twenty-five cents per hour for individual work. If there are more than one in a course, the Dean and the tutor will determine the price.

MUSIC PRACTICE.

Under all circumstances proctors will mark a student absent if she does not practice during the time assigned her.

Under no circumstances do proctors excuse students; therefore do not make such requests of them. Make these requests to the Dean.

Under all ordinary conditions students will practice at their regular times. If any one wishes to substitute some other hour, the permission of the Principal must be obtained before the change is made; otherwise, the absence will not be excused.

When students are given the privilege of making up practice, it must be made up and so noted within three days from the time it was missed. Otherwise, it will go on the college records as unexcused.

5. All students taking as much as two hours of practice are required to attend the student recitals on Thursday afternoons; any music student not having the equivalent of fifteen hours of work a week will be required to attend. An unexcused absence from recital count as an absence from regular practice.

6. Never stop for a social visit with proctors; you disturb their study hour.

7. Close windows and pianos and turn lights according to the notice on practice room doors.

8. Every absence or tardiness should be reported to the Dean at once. Unless so reported after three days such delinquency will go on the college record as unexcused.

9. Three unexcused absences from practice during any quarter causes loss of privileges for a month for those practicing from one to three hours a day.

Four unexcused absences from practice during any quarter causes loss of privileges for a month for those practicing three or more hours a day.

In all cases two tardies count as one absence. Leaving practice rooms without permission for visiting or other purposes will count as a tardy.

10. Piano stools should not be moved from one practice room to another.

11. Rag-time music may not be played in practice rooms or studios at any time.

12. Nothing should ever be put on the stage pianos. If the stage is being used for a rehearsal or an entertainment, the pianos should be covered for protection, closed at the end of the rehearsal or entertainment, and everything left in good condition.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association is an organization to which every resident Meredith College student belongs. New students have just as important a part in it as former ones, and we are counting on them to join with the seniors in giving us their hearty support.

The honor system adopted by the Association places each girl greater responsibility and, on the other hand, greater freedom than she could otherwise have. The regulations contained in the handbook were made by the students themselves and approved by the faculty. It is the duty, therefore, of each individual girl not only to obey these regulations herself, but also to call them to the attention of fellow-students and, if necessary, of members of the Student Executive Committee, any disregard of these regulations is the part of others. Student government will be a failure unless each one does her part. We trust that all the members will feel their individual responsibility and will coöperate in every possible way.

A student may not drop a subject or change course without permission from the Dean.

Students are required to take examinations in all subjects pursued during a semester.

No one will be excused from any college work on account of illness unless she is the patient of the physician or nurse.

Students may not take part in plays or other entertainments without the permission of the Dean. Ordinarily, permission will not be given to those who are not making grade or who have more than sixteen hours of work per week.

REGULATIONS FOR TUTORING

Students may tutor only with tutors who have been approved by the Dean and the head of the department.

The number of hours which a tutor may tutor will be determined by the Dean. (Ordinarily, three hours of tutoring will count as one academic hour.)

Absences from tutoring lessons and unpreparedness will be reported and counted as if from regular class.

The price for tutoring lessons will be, under ordinary circumstances, twenty-five cents an hour for individual work. If there are more than one in a course, the Dean and the tutor will determine the price.

MUSIC PRACTICE

1. Under all circumstances proctors will mark a student absent if she does not practice during the time assigned her.

2. Under no circumstances do proctors excuse students; therefore, do not make such requests of them. Make these requests to the Dean.

3. Under all ordinary conditions students will practice at their regular time. If any one wishes to substitute some other hour, the permission of the Principal must be obtained before the change is made; otherwise, the absence will not be excused.

4. When students are given the privilege of making up practice, it must be made up and reported within three days from the time it was missed. Otherwise, it will go on the college record as unexcused.

5. All students taking as much as two hours of practice are required to attend the student recitals on Thursday afternoons; any other music student not having the equivalent of fifteen hours of work a week will be required to attend. An unexcused absence from recital will count as an absence from regular practice.

Never stop for a social visit with the tutors; you disturb their study hour.

Close windows and pianos and turn off lights according to the notice on practice room doors.

Every absence or tardiness should be reported to the Dean at once. Unless so reported, after three days such delinquency will go on college record as unexcused.

Three unexcused absences from practice during any quarter causes loss of privileges for a month for those practicing from one to two hours a day.

Four unexcused absences from practice during any quarter causes loss of privileges for a month for those practicing three or more hours a day.

In all cases two tardies count as one absence; leaving practice rooms without permission for other purposes will count as a tardy.

Piano stools should not be moved from one practice room to another.

Rag-time music may not be played in the practice rooms or studios at any time.

Nothing should ever be put on the stage pianos. If the stage is being used for a rehearsal or an entertainment the pianos should be covered for protection, closed at the end of rehearsal or entertainment, and everything kept in good condition.

Students are under the college regulations from the time they reach the college until they take the train to leave Raleigh, or until they have received permission from the Dean to visit in the city at Christmas vacation or at the close of the session.

The college buildings will be open to the Y. W. C. A. Reception Committee on Saturday and to other students on Monday, before college opens. They will be closed to students Wednesday after commencement.
